

Baggage Information

Knowing the weights limits, baggage guidelines and packing accordingly will help ensure a smooth check-in

Checked baggage

The amount of checked baggage that you can take with you free of charge is determined according to either the number of pieces or the weight. The 'allow' box on your paper ticket indicates which of these concepts apply to your baggage allowance. On your e-ticket, this is indicated in the 'baggage' box.

Weight system (All destinations on ATR 72-500)

The table below states the maximum weight of the checked baggage that you can take with you free of charge.

Restrictions to weight of single piece of checked baggage on all Malaysia Airlines services

To comply with Global Health and Safety regulations for baggage handlers, Malaysia Airlines has imposed a strict ruling to ensure that each single piece of item or baggage that is checked in DOES NOT exceed 32 kg (70 lbs).

Irrespective of class of travel, any single piece of baggage weighing more than 32 kg (70 lbs) will not be accepted at check-in counters at any station. Customers will be required to reduce the weight by repacking the baggage into smaller units before they are allowed to check in. This regulation equally applies to transit baggage.

We recommend that items exceeding 32 kg (70 lbs) such as bulky musical instruments, sports equipment, as well as photo and film camera equipment should be sent through MASkargo, our cargo service.

Excess value declarations and fees

You may declare a value for your checked baggage in excess of the applicable liability limit. If you make such a declaration, you must pay additional charges in accordance with our regulations. Malaysia Airlines will not accept liability for valuables, fragile or perishable articles including money, jewellery, cameras, video and electronics equipment, silverware, negotiable instruments, business documents, samples, antiques, paintings, furs, manuscripts or similar items, computers and medication.
